

It's downright rude and should be banned while in the air at least.
It should only be used in emergency situations.